PROJECT BEYSHICK 2007:

A Business Career Job-Shadowing Opportunity for
Nishnawbe Aski Nation First Nation
ENTREPRENEURS, COMMUNITY LEADERS, STUDENTS

20 participants aged 21-35, 1 week
Workshops with leading Business School Professors
Networking with Business Professionals
Job-shadowing CEOs

Project Beyshick is a youth mentoring program focused on career mentoring and entrepreneurship among First Nation youth.

Based on an application process, participants are trained by professors from leading Canadian business schools and matched with Toronto-based business executives for hands on job shadowing experience.

2007 marks the third year of the program which has received national news coverage and recognition from Lieutenant Governor of Ontario the Hon. James K. Bartleman and the Government of Ontario.

"Project Beyshick seeks to make the world of business and finance more accessible to Aboriginal people. It aims to allow members of the First Nations to become equal partners in the economic prosperity of Canada."

- The Hon. Dalton McGuinty, Premier of Ontario

"Life changing. Inspirational. Everyone needs this."

- Jason, Project Beyshick Participant 2006
